

The conference discusses current proposals on code-switching mainly in early bilinguals but also in adolescents and adults with different language combinations - among them Italian, French, Spanish, English, German, Turkish and Chinese. The presentations are divided into three thematic blocks: CS at the clause level, CS at the NP level and the pragmatics and psychological aspects of CS.

In the last seven years, the Wuppertal Bilingualism Group (WuBIG) has investigated early child bilingualism in several research projects funded by the German Science Foundation DFG. Since 2009, WuBIG has focused on the study of code-switching in early bilingual German-Romance and Romance-Romance children in Germany, Italy, France and Spain.
